CAPTAIN HOWARD BRADDOCK AND LIEUT. SHALLENBERGER GIVE UP LIVES IN FRANCE

War Department Messages
Carry News to Officers' Families.

FORMER JUST PROMOTED

Fell in Battle on October 24; Lieutenant Shallenberger's Death Came on November 2. Telegrams Carry the Findings of Other Casualties. Also.

Telegrams from the War Department last evening carried news of the deaths in action of several young men well known in Connellsville and elsewhere in the community. Among them reported dead are two officers Captain Howard C. Braddock Mount Pleasant and Lieutenant Hugh D. Shallenberger Jr. Vanderbilt. Captain Braddock was commander of the Supply Company of the 110th Infantry having recently been promoted from a lieutenant; in that command Lieutenant Shallenberger was with Company G 5th Infantry.

The message received at Mount Pleasant by James S. Braddock the father stated that Captain Braddock fell on October 24. Just a few days ago news had come by mail of Captain Braddock's promotion from first lieutenant of the same command. In happy anticipation of his return now that the war had ended, the members of the family were greatly shocked to receive the telegraphic message of his death.

Captain Braddock was one of the best known young men of the community. He was born at Mount Pleasant, educated there and grew to manhood there and on completing his schooling engaged with his father in the coal business. He quit a lucrative business to enter the service of the country. His advancement to captain was the third after his entry into the service.

After two years military training at Pennsylvania State College Captain Braddock enlisted in the Supply Company of the old 10th Regiment shortly before the call for mobilization came. On May 5 1917 he was advanced to second lieutenant and on March 5 1918 while the regiment was still in training at Camp Hancock he was made first lieutenant in the demobilization of the army is completed.

"WAR" PROHIBITION RECEIVES APPROVAL OF PRESIDENT WILSON

Agricultural Measure Stopping Sale of Intoxicants July 1. 1919, Becomes a Law at Last.

WASHINGTON Nov 22—With the signing yesterday by President Wilson of the Emergency Agricultural Appropriation bill with its rider providing for national prohibition from next July 1 until our Army is demobilized came to an end a long fight in Congress.

The prohibition feature stops the sale of distilled malt or vinous beverages June 30 1919 and thereafter until the completion of demobilization. Manufacture of distilled spirits is now prohibited under the food control law which will expire with the signing of the world peace treaty.

Unless the presidential proclamation under the food control act is rescinded the prohibition amendment will affect only the manufacture of beer for the brewing of all beer must cease December 1 under the President's proclamation.

The manufacture of whisky was stopped soon after the nation entered the war. Under the amendment the manufacture of wine will cease next May 1 and the situation abroad will govern the return of the men in France.

General Pershing said the secretary has not charge of the return of the troops and that matter is already under consideration by him. Naturally the situation abroad will govern the return of the men in France.

But you can state with certainty as coming from me that from the sun-of the 28th and 79th Divisions which are the old National Guard and that men of Pennsylvania will be home or Christmas.

As soon as General Pershing has formulated his plans for the return of the American troops they will be submitted to the War Department for such changes and modifications as may be suggested from that source. Until that time the movement of troops to their homes will be taken care of in the lines suggested recently by General March chief of the general staff.

It may be possible that a few of the troops now engaged overseas may be home soon but it is a certainty that none of the combat troops will arrive within a short time and nobody can foretell with any definiteness

when they will come back.

The situation is under General

Pershing's personal observation and the return of the troops must be governed entirely by his judgment of the conditions abroad. However it is certainly true that the War Department and every federal agency is only too willing to bring the boys back to their homes as speedily as the conditions will warrant.

Once again I reiterate that none of the Pennsylvania troops of the 28th

and 79th Divisions will be here for Christmas. I understand that in many sections preparations have been made for family reunions by the parents of the boys who have been fighting in France. This should be the time for me to say that they should know definitely that these cannot come of as their sons will not be here by that time.

Secretary Baker said that Pennsylvania had sufficient ground for a splendid enthusiasm for the work of their men abroad. He said that the boys from the Keystone state had won enviable honors abroad and that their reputation for fighting and bravery

was second to none in the nation.

Pennsylvania has every reason to be proud of her men he continued

and the War Department knows full well the remarkable heroism they have shown and the wonderful work they have done in France. For that reason the reception to them when they do return will be merited and they have earned the best the state can give

AMERICAN-ALLIED WAR EXPOSITION

THAT the great American Allied War Exposition, which will be staged in Pittsburgh from November 28 to December 3, will attract thousands of persons from all sections of the tri-state region, is indicated in reports being received at headquarters there. The advance sale of tickets campaign is going ahead with great vigor in all sections of the territory adjacent to Pittsburgh, and it is evident that the public is eager to see the thousands of captured trophies and other war equipment.

Plans for the expo are fast being formulated by the general committee. Features are being added to the program daily, the very latest being the announcement that hundreds of soldiers, from one of the big cantonments, probably Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., will take part in the big show, lending the proper atmosphere.

American Official from Committee on Public Information, Copyrighted.

In connection with the advance sale of tickets, the executive committee stresses the fact that when the admission slips are bought in advance the price is cut in half, or 25 cents. If purchased at the gate, tickets will be 50 cents each, children being admitted for half the amount charged grown-ups. The exposition, which is operated by the United States government, is not a money proposition. The government wishes to have as many persons view the great spectacle as possible, and thus the advance sale price of tickets is held to the nominal charge, the idea being to avoid congestion while the expo is in progress.

The general expo program will be most elaborate in detail, and in addition to the indoor shows, which will be staged in the Western Pennsylvania Exposition building as the Point, the heavy exhibits such as "Big Bertha" and large canon, will be placed on grounds and parks immediately adjacent to the main displays. A program of music is being arranged, and speakers of national prominence will appear each day and deliver ad-dresses.

THE PARAMOUNT

"THE RAINBOW TRAIL"—Starring William Farnum, the celebrated sure actor, is today's feature attraction. This is a strong western tale, packed with love and heart interest, and affords an unusual number of real thrills. It is one of the best Farnum productions ever shown. The scenes are largely laid in the Grand Canyon of Arizona and from a scenic standpoint the picture probably excels anything of the sort yet undertaken by photoplay producers. The story is a sequel to "Riders of the Purple Sage." Mr. Farnum is again seen as Lassiter, the feared rider of the range and the terror of the border. The story centers about the wilderness of Arizona and dates back to the period of the cliff dwellers and to the day when the easiest way to settle arguments was with a six-shooter. Mr. Farnum is given ample opportunity to display his great versatility as he portrays the dual role throughout the picture. The opening scene finds Farnum with the girl he loves sealed up in a lost canyon. The story shows how they are rescued by an Indian guide who perceives them from a lofty peak, clinging with the can. The scene down the steep sides of the canyon thousands of feet deep forms a thrilling situation. The feature will also be presented tomorrow. A comedy is also being shown.

THE SOISSON

"DAUGHTER OF DESTINY"—Madame Petrova's first photoplay from her own studio is being shown today. The distinguished star has created another screen notability in the person of Marion Ashby, an impulsive American girl, who suffers and triumphs greatly when drawn into the web of modern secret diplomacy. She is drawn in the maelstrom of international intrigue through the pretended love of a noted artist, Frank Zorn, who uses his reputation in the art world for the underhanded of Marion in order to gain possession of her father's diplomatic secrets. Madame Petrova, styled "the magnificent" by her countless admirers, runs the world gamut of feminine emotions during the course of the remarkable adventures encountered by the stunning American girl. The story, dealing as it does with court life, calls for several foreign settings of great beauty. In these scenes the business transacted is absolutely true to local and national custom, not guess work. There are scores of officers, diplomatic functionaries and dignitaries of all kinds and all of them are correctly dressed and correctly mannered. The picture is brimful of that rarest of all screen attributes, atmosphere. The gowns worn by Madame Petrova are start-ingly beautiful. She is supported by Thomas Hadding and other screen stars of unusual excellence. The picture will also be shown tomorrow.

THE ORPHEUM

"THE MATING OF MARCHIA"—Features delightful Dorothy Dalton in the leading role. The drama affords a splendid contrast between the frivolous show-girl type of the "Great White Way" and the war-hearted, courageous American girl type that predominates throughout the country. She portrays the role of a modiste model who becomes involved in another woman's plot to obtain a divorce with alimony. There is a deep love interest and the development of the story affords Miss Dalton much opportunity for the display of her manifold talents. Charles Chaplin will be shown in a new comedy, "Triple Trouble."

"MY FOUR YEARS IN GERMANY"—The protest of a German soldier, an eye-witness of the slaughter of Russian soldiers in the mountain lakes and swamps, reads as follows: "It was frightful, heart-rending, as these masses of human beings were driven to destruction. Above the terrible thunder of the canons could be heard the heart-rending cries of the Russians: 'Oh, Prussians—Oh, Prussians!' But there was no mercy. On command had ordered: 'The whole lot must die, no rapid fire!' As I have heard, five men and one officer on our side went mad from those heart-rending cries. But most of my comrades and the officers joked as the unarmed and helpless Russians shriked for mercy, while they were being suffocated in

LIFE WITH THE RED CROSS IN ITALY IS MOST FASCINATING

As an air raid
I saw and I never hear the alarms to go to the refugio. Generally it is the bombs that awaken us. I don't know which annoyed me the most the first week I was here—whether it was the mosquitoes or the raids. The first morning I awakened I looked as if I had the measles my face was bitten so badly. I have at last gotten revenge on the mosquitoes by having a net put over my bed.

I was in Genoa for two days. Long enough to visit Christopher Columbus' birthplace the famous cemetery, the gardens and a few of the cathedrals. I was in Rome for a week. I visited St. Peter's cathedral, the catacombs, the Vatican and the other interesting places but I did not like Rome and requested to be sent some place else. Hence I am up here and I love it here because the occasional raids make it just a little exciting.

I was in Bologna for one day and night. Have been in Florence and the major is going to get me a pass to go to Venice next Sunday. We have a half holiday one day last week and spent it by going out to a field meet to see the king of Italy decorate some of the heroes. Thanks to our American uniforms we were given a place in a box right near his majesty. I also saw the Prince of Wales and a number of other interesting people. Many things which I will tell you all about when I come home. It would take too long to write it.

I was in Gabraltor for five days. I had a wonderful time while there. The only fault I could find with our stay there was that the days did not last long enough as we had so many invitations that it was impossible to fill them all. While there we were swimming in the Mediterranean Sea. I attended several dances where we swam several times. We were in a motor boat every day and found great pleasure in climbing over the great Prudential rock. I was also in Spain but I unfortunately did not go to Africa with the remainder of the party but had to be satisfied with seeing it at a distance.

We had a wonderful voyage. There wasn't anyone sick. The ocean was just like a lake and we had the most wonderful moonlight nights and fine weather all the way over. Our voyage was made perfect when we had the pleasure of seeing a submarine which was trying to set us.

I guess my home-sick days are about over now as I am feeling a bit better every day. The girls tell me that the first three weeks are the homesick weeks and I agree with them as I was terribly lonely until last Saturday when one of the officers received some Pittsburgh papers and gave them to me to read and I have been a different person ever since. It cheered me up so much to read some news from home. My mail has not begun to arrive yet but I know there must be some on the way.

I find that the work here is very difficult as the major and captain both dictate very fast. The major is a professor in one of the largest universities in the State. There are quite a number of Italian telegraphers employed by the Red Cross in Rome. There is also a marchesa (marchioness) in charge of the medical warehouse here. I go down to the warehouse and as I sit with her at the office work for about two hours every day. I think I am going to be transferred down there for good as they are going to my all a filing system and are going to be using me in charge of the record which work I think I would like very much. But as it makes no difference how difficult the work is, we don't mind it because it is always interesting and we meet such interesting people.

Have met people from England, Scotland, France, Spain, Gibraltar, Italy, also Australia. I love the Italian people and shall never forget them. I am very sorry I do not speak the Italian language. I have not any time since I came up here to take any lessons but we took lessons in New York and also continue our French and Italian classes every day while we are on the ship. I would love to write about how interesting these Italian cities are but I can't describe them as I would like but certainly have lots to tell you about when I come home.

Everything is so old and part of the walls around the cities that were built for fortification's years and years ago and that I used to read about I see every day now. Also the city gates. A very interesting thing to me is the water running through the cities and so many pretty little bridges and fountains. Sometimes I wonder if I won't awaken and find that I have been in a dream.

A rather funny incident happened Saturday evening. There was a lieutenant at our table whom I had not seen before and of course the first thing we ask a stranger is "Where are you from?" When I told him I was from Connellsville he said he had traveled through there quite often and asked me if I knew the girl who at one time was a shop girl for the S. J. Harry company and of course I happened to be myself but had forgotten we'd no, recognize each other. Now I remember him quite well as he was an agent for the Travelers Insurance Company.

I am learning to live better over here every day but would love to drop into the Title & Trust building some day and have a nice friendly chat with the girls.

Tell them all I am Hello and give them all my best.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is certainly a most pleasant and efficient solution of the 'castor oil problem' that confronts most mothers" (From a letter to Dr. Caldwell written by Mrs. Chas. Daly, 412 Shownard St., Syracuse, N. Y.)

For most children a mild laxative, administered occasionally, is all that is necessary to assure normal regularity and consequent good health. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a pleasant-tasting combination of simple laxative herbs with pepsin that acts gently, yet effectively; children like it and take it readily.

The Frock and the Panel

If we could meet the wearers of these two paneled frocks face to face it would be no surprise to us to find that the fronts of these gowns do not differ from the backs. For we ought to expect a panel this season wherever there is a chance to place one. The panel is the outstanding new feature in the styles, both in coats and gowns. There are panels wide and panels narrow, panels long and a few panels short—everywhere there are panels.

The most noteworthy characteristic of panels is that they simply can't exist without some sort of decoration. They are fringed or tasseled or brocaded or embroidered, and there are many ways of developing these several forms of trimming. More often than not two of them are present on one panel. In fact the panel is the thing and the long plain frock is more or less a background for it. Frocks are more or less expensive, according to the character of the decoration of the panel. If it is a rich embroidery that takes much time the price soars until it almost gives our heart failure to ask it. Decorations that can be quickly applied cost less, but all are costly enough and this includes the wide fringes. The needlewoman who can manage to do embroidery or brocade for herself can add many dollars to the value of a plain frock and much beauty.

Both the frocks pictured have panels enriched with brocade. At the left a frock of devore has a simple leaf pattern outlined in silk rat tail braid. There is a narrow sash of the material about the waist, with very long ends finished with tassels that hang to the bottom of the dress at the back. The other dress has a much more intricate brocade in which soutache makes a pattern as rich looking as embroidery. The panels in this case are finished with silk fringe and so is the sash of satin which is brought about the waist and looped over at the left side. These are short, each ends finished with fringe. Altogether they are two very good exponents of the mode in frocks that will do for all day wear.

Jules Bottonaly

Ways With Beads.

Beads are still in good style. For this fact the designers must be thankful. At all events they are doing some very interesting work with them and are still producing novel effects by the use of beads and yet more beads. In one smart frock recently worn by a well dressed woman there was a band of bead insertion—that is as good a name as any other. The frock had a skirt of georgette and a bodice of brocaded velvet and the loose sleeves showed a wide band of beads, big wooden beads of the same tan shade as the velvet, strung in up-and-down strands and held together presumably with a tape by which the banding was sewed in the sleeve.

In one smart frock recently worn by a well dressed woman there was a band of bead insertion—that is as good a name as any other. The frock had a skirt of georgette and a bodice of brocaded velvet and the loose sleeves showed a wide band of beads, big wooden beads of the same tan shade as the velvet, strung in up-and-down strands and held together presumably with a tape by which the banding was sewed in the sleeve.

pattern outlined in silk rat tail braid. There is a narrow sash of the material about the waist, with very long ends finished with tassels that hang to the bottom of the dress at the back.

The other dress has a much more intricate brocade in which soutache makes a pattern as rich looking as embroidery. The panels in this case are finished with silk fringe and so is the sash of satin which is brought about the waist and looped over at the left side. These are short, each ends finished with fringe. Altogether they are two very good exponents of the mode in frocks that will do for all day wear.

Beads are still in good style. For this fact the designers must be thankful. At all events they are doing some very interesting work with them and are still producing novel effects by the use of beads and yet more beads. If there is any article in the woolly worm sign, the first part of the winter will be the hardest, as the most black was on the end in the direction which he was traveling, as he was seen hunting a place to hibernate this fall.

What has become of the birds? We don't even see the little English sparrows. Those little scavengers of town that used to be seen in flocks on our streets, have almost disappeared from our midst.

CLAIMS IT GAVE BACK TO HIM HIS OLD TIME HEALTH

Federal Street, Pittsburgh, Man Says
Ten-Herbs Restored Him
to Health.

"There are so many so-called stomach,
liver and kidney medicines extensively advertised today that the people are lured away from the good, old-time herbal remedies, such as our forefathers used to take," said the Ten-Herbs man in a recent interview who is daily telling the public the benefits to be derived by taking Ten-Herbs, the purely herbal stomach, liver and kidney remedy.

Since Ten-Herbs was so successfully introduced here, many persons are taking it every day to the benefits derived by taking it.

As an instance, Mr. D. C. Scott, residing at No. 1108 Federal street, Pittsburgh, who has a large acquaintance here, and is employed by one of Pittsburgh's foremost firms, said:

"After the hard season just passed,
which none of us will forget for many a day, I was all run down; I seemed to have no energy or ambition to do anything. My stomach was in a weak condition, and I had no appetite whatever. I could not get a good night's sleep;
was constipated, and I felt surely in need of a good medicine to build me up. I heard a good deal how Ten-Herbs helped others, and finally put my nerves in fine shape. I now have a good appetite, sleep well, and my constipation is relieved. Ten-Herbs has given me back my old-time
'pep' and I am feeling like a new man.
I certainly feel it my duty to tell others
of the great benefit I received from taking it."

Ten-Herbs is sold in Connellsville
at the Connellsville Drug Co. Store.

VAST PETRIFIED WOOD FOOLED EVEN HIS BROTHER

First Writing of Benjamin Franklin
Were Signed With Unrecognizable
Name No Name de Plume.

NATURAL CURIOSITY IN THE STATE OF NEW YORK.

Material of Great Value for Buildings Was at First Thought to Be Rock Until More Thorough Investigation Was Made

"Near Mumford in the southwestern corner of Monroe County, New York," said a native of that locality, "was called the New England Courant. The only one before it was the Boston News Letter. I remember his being dissipated by some of his friends from the under-taking as not likely to succeed, one newspaper being in their judgment enough for America. At this time (1771) there are not less than five and twenty. He went on, however with the undertaking and after having worked in composing the types and printing off the sheets I was employed to carry the papers through the streets to the customers."

He had some ingenuous men among his friends who amused themselves by writing little pieces for this paper which gained it credit and made it more in demand and these gentlemen often visited us. Hearing their conversations and their accounts of the probation their papers were received with I was excited to try my hand among them, but being still a boy and suspecting that my brother would object to printing anything of mine in his paper if he knew it to be mine I contrived to disguise my hand and writing an anonymous paper I put it at night under the door of the printing house. It was found in the morning and communicated to his writing friends when they called in as usual. They read it commented on it in my hearing and I had the exquisite pleasure of finding it met with their approbation and that, in their different guesses as to the author, none were named but men of some character among us for learning and ingenuity. I suppose now that I was rather lucky in my judges and that perhaps they were not really so very good ones as I had esteemed them—Autobiography of Benjamin Franklin.

Curious Hobby
Francis Wilson has a curious hobby—a mania for collecting bottles, either in bottles or church yards, and he was not converted to credence in the sheet sort by reading Lombroso. He did think the time was ripe for a ghostly comedy, however at the modern plays dealing with spiritualism was of a serious nature. But the full glare of metropolitan skepticism proved too much for "The Spiritualist."

Eligible.
Alfred Noyes, the English poet who alone among the entire poet tribe makes a living out of poetry, said at a dinner in New York
"I wish to be understood that my poems are not putting me in the Carnegie or Rockefeller class."
"While my poems afford me a competence, I am still hit hard by the story of Mrs. Blanche."
"Who is that young man who is paying you such marked attention?"
"Mrs. Blanche, a society leader, asked her daughter.
"He is a poet, mother," the young girl replied.
"Gracious!" cried the mother.
"And can you, a millionaire's daughter, seriously contemplate throwing yourself away on a starving poet?"

"On," said the young girl, you don't understand. He isn't an ordinary poet. He writes poetical adventure poems."
"My darling," said the mother, call him up at once. I'll ask him to our weekend house party."

Thoughts for Girl Who Works
It is all wrong for girls to start out with the idea that their employers are tyrants, and that critics are to be avoided. It does not make any difference what your employer is as long as you are with him you will do the work you are paid to do.

If you prove too unimportant, then go elsewhere, but no one can risk the weakening of character which comes to those who refuse to receive the obligation of the day's work well done.

He Baffled Her.

"Do you know, I'm sure I've seen your face somewhere before?"

"I don't know you at all madam. This isn't the first time I've worn it."

POWERFUL PILE
REMEDY DISCOVERED

Has Never Failed to End Most Infinite Case of Piles in Few Days.
It is said it has been proved that all external remedies applied to or inserted in the rectum cure curples and a few other diseases. An American physician, Dr. Charles H. L. Ladd, of New York, has done away with all operations
to do remove his cure, but out and the formation.

This wonderful preparation known as "Miro Pile Remedy" is so simple and safe that it can cure one case of piles in from 20 to 30 days, combined with perfect healing. It is now completely cured in from 10 to ten days, I find. Just a few doses of a carefully prepared prescription with the most delicate of pipes is inserted in the rectum
and left there.

Dr. Ladd, of New York, says he has never had a case of piles which did not respond to his treatment.

Frank J. Phillips, of Bird, Pa., and mentee says:

"I used to have a full of Mayo
I worked like a charm and I am now a full of Mayo. I never regretted it. It is a such blessing. I am in such blessing as I am in a ship but it was not necessary to all pharmacists dispense. Many of them did not know what to do in the matter, the little trouble to put it in the right place for a TWO-FOOT TALL. What is known as petrified piles are not met in the true sense of the word, although this case is a remarkable one. I can not say that I have ever seen such a case. It is not necessary to take any special preservation. For sale by Dr. Ladd, of New York.

Nice Walk.

Pretty Miss (smiling)—Don't you want to go for a nice walk?
Gallant youth—I should love to.
Pretty Miss—Go ahead, then! I'm not stopping you.

Paradoxical Slogans.
"What do you think the striking bakers said?"
"What did they say?"
"We'll want bread before we will break it."

The Times.
"This is a very up-to-date story."
"How so?"

"It opens with the hero and heroine
taking a Sunday ride in a couch
and pair."

The Reason.

"The lawyers can't split hairs over that case."
"Why not?"

"Because it has nothing in it but dead facts."

The Trouble.

"I see they have a circus glass entertainer at the hospital. What is the matter with him?"

"I think he has a pane in his storm shades."

An Easy Mark.

Shy—Oh my dear they had such hanging downtown today. They sold such cheap things.

He—I don't doubt it. I notice they sold you

Poor Prospects for the Bride.

"I should think the girl's parents would object."

"What do you mean?"

"The parents of the girl one of the lawyer's sons is going to marry."

"Why should they object?"

"How would you like a daughter without even knowing who is the
man?"

"Without even knowing who is the
man?"

Figuratively Speaking.

"Wouldn't let you hold her hand?"

"She gave me to understand that some other fellow held an option on it."

"Did she have on an engagement
ring?"

"No."

"In a case like that the claim ought to be taken out."

Says His Prescription

Has Powerful Influence

Over Rheumatism.

Discoverer Tel's Connellsville Drug Store to Take a Cut of Ammonium Liner. Little Alkaline Painlessly Banishes Rheumatic Pains and Injuries.

Mr. James H. Allen, surgeon for years with rheumatism, has often tried to cure his disease, but has never succeeded.

He finally decided, after years of failure, to consult the physician of the community, Dr. W. H. Drayton, of Connellsville, who has been absorbed while evaporation has been reduced the natural effect being a general lowering of temperature on the earth's surface.

A quite different theory has been brought out by Prof. W. J. Humphreys in regard to volcanic explosions—such as those of Krakatoa, Pelee and Tambora—that quantities of fine dust have been projected into the upper air and spreading out, have formed the mists clouds that seem to have produced a material portion of the sun's rays from reaching the earth's surface.

Long continued volcanic activity of great intensity might give a heat-reaching distance that would create quite new climates. Such volcanic processes are recorded in the rocks and are often visible before the sun's rays
have reached the earth's surface.
